Information and Waiver Agreement Concerning Federal Income Tax Refunds

A joint tax return refund has been reported to the Michigan Sate Disbursement Unit to help satisfy your child support obligation. The Michigan State Disbursement Unit will hold the intercepted funds and will not immediately distribute the funds to you or to the child support recipient. This is because the refund may represent funds that are due the non-child support obligated spouse, who may choose to file an amended tax return.

However, if both of you agree to have the funds applied and disbursed at this time, that can occur, provided the non-child support obligated spouse agrees to waive his or her right to file an amended return and agrees to have the entire refund amount applied to the child support case. The funds will be released and distributed by the Michigan State Disbursement Unit. This process may also include distribution and allocation to all balances due at the time of release, including child support, statutory fees, Court costs, medical accounts and any other balance type on your case.

Waiver and Agreement

By our signatures below, we agree to have the income tax refund applied to child support case at this time. I, the non-child support obligated spouse, agree to have my share of the tax refund applied to my spouse's child support case and I further waive my right to file an amended tax return to have my portion of the tax refund determined and returned to me.
